EndNote چیست؟

- EndNote، یکی از نرم‌افزارهای کاربردی در مدیریت اطلاعات شخصی و کتابشناختی می‌باشد. با این نرم افزار می توان یک فایل شخصی ایجاد کرد و منابع و مآخذی که برای نوشتن مقاله، کتاب و هر نوشته تحقیقاتی دیگر مورد استفاده قرار گرفته است را مدیریت و آنها را در یک فرمت نوشتاری استاندارد ذخیره نمود. همچنین قابلیت جستجوی مقالات در پایگاه ها و ذخیره کردن اطلاعات مورد نیاز در فایل شخصی را فراهم می‌کند. این نرم افزار بعنوان یک ویرایشگر کمکی برای پردازشگر word عمل کرده و فرایند مقاله نویسی را تسهیل می کند. EndNote محصولی از شرکت Thomson است و به ما کمک می‌کند که تمام کتابشناسی مقدماتی را جستجو و در یک محیط وارد کنیم.

- EndNote دو نسخه دارد: نسخه وب، نسخه رومیزی (Desktop).

آنچه که در این اینجا به آن خواهیم پرداخت شامل:

- ابزارها و امکانات لازم برای استفاده از نرم افزار EndNote
- ایجاد و باز کردن کتابخانه های شخصی؛
- وارد کردن مراجع/استنادها به نرم افزار EndNote از پایگاه های اطلاعاتی(برای مثال EBSCO، Scopus، Google)
- استفاده از ویژگی “cite while you write” نرم افزار EndNote در نرم افزار word

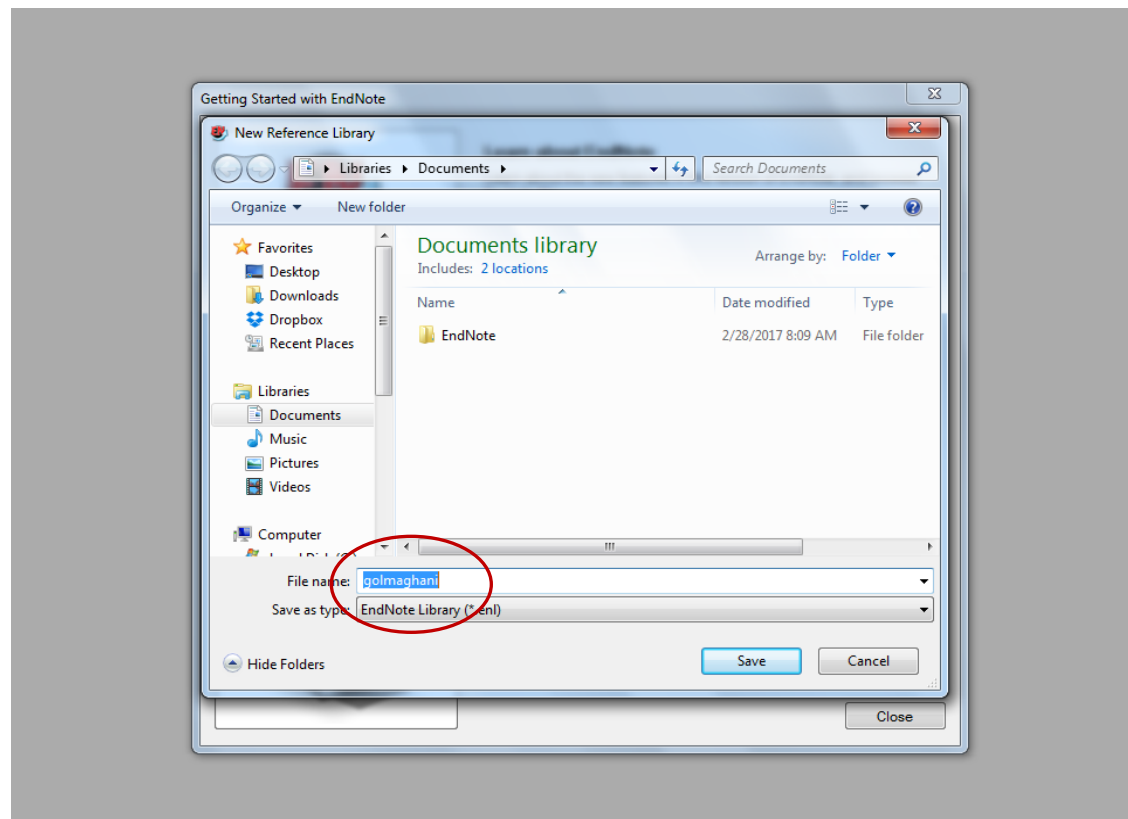

نصب کردن EndNote

- بعد از نصب، هنگامی که گزینه EndNote را کلیک می کنید، صفحه زیر ظاهر می شود.

چنانچه برای اولین بار از این نرم افزار استفاده می کنید گزینه Create a new EndNote Library را انتخاب کنید. در مراجعات بعدی گزینه Open an existing EndNote Library را انتخاب نمایید. بعد از انتخاب گزینه مورد نظر، صفحه اصلی نرم افزار ظاهر می شود.

- بعد از کلیک کردن روی گزینه Create a new EndNote Library صفحه زیر ظاهر می شود که باید کتابخانه شخصی خود را نامگذاری نماییم

صفحه ای مطابق زیر گشوده می شود

برای وارد کردن اطلاعات در کتابخانه شخصی خود از چندین راه می توانید استفاده نمایید:

- اطلاعات مربوط به یک منبع را به صورت دستی وارد می کنیم
- به پایگاه اطلاعاتی متصل شده و اطلاعات را مستقیماً از طریق نرم افزار وارد می کنیم
- Import کردن اطلاعات: یعنی فایل‌های خود را در کامپیوتر ذخیره کرده و سپس با Import کردن در نرم افزار EndNote وارد می کنیم.

Summary

Background

COVID-19 progression is associated with an increased risk of arterial and venous thrombosis. Randomised trials have demonstrated that anticoagulants reduce the risk of thromboembolism in hospitalised patients with COVID-19, but a benefit of routine anticoagulation has not been demonstrated in the outpatient setting.

The screenshot shows the Microsoft Word interface with the 'Insert Citation' ribbon selected. The ribbon includes options like 'Go to EndNote', 'Edit & Manage Citation(s)', 'Update Citations and Bibliography', and 'Convert Citations and Bibliography'. The 'Style' dropdown is set to 'Vancouver'. The document text discusses relative estimates of averted hospitalisations or deaths, mentioning factors like VE estimates, vaccine coverage, and study period. It also lists several limitations of the current study, such as missing vaccination records and comorbidities. The text includes several citations marked with [1], [2], and [I].

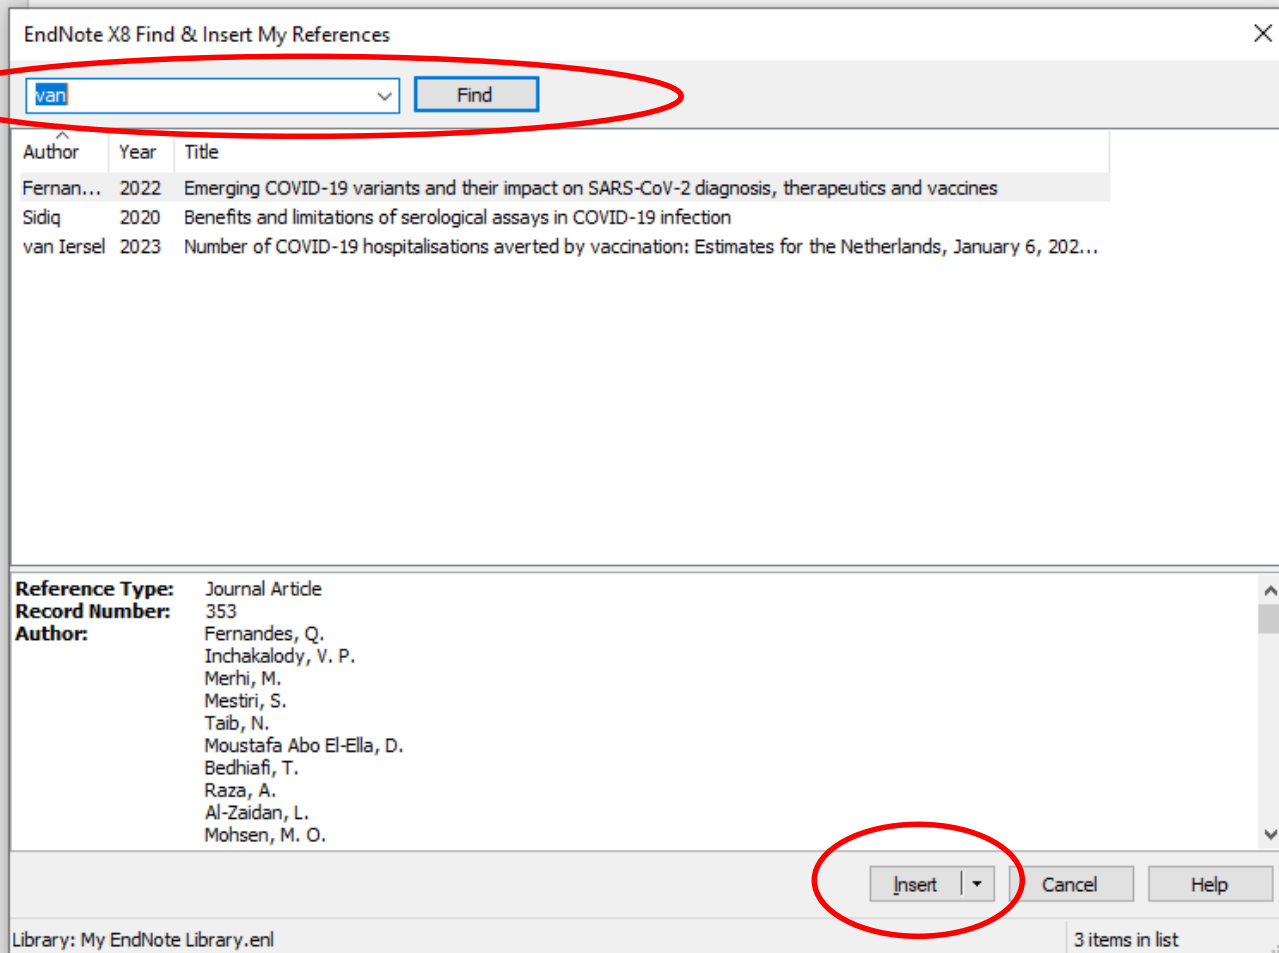

Comparing our relative estimates to relative estimates of averted hospitalisations or deaths in previous research is not straightforward, because the calculations depend on several factors. Firstly, outcomes are affected by the VE estimates used. The VE against death is higher than the VE against hospitalisation, which leads to a lower expected percentage averted hospitalisations compared to averted deaths. Secondly, a higher vaccine coverage leads to a higher estimated percentage of averted admissions. In the Netherlands, coverage is relatively high, thus we would expect a higher estimate. Lastly, the number of observed hospitalisations, the timing of peaks in observed hospitalisations, and the length of the study period affect the relative estimates. (1)Nevertheless, our estimate in the entire period (57.0 %) is similar to the estimate of 52.9 % averted hospitalisations for New York (2). However, it is much higher than the estimated 32 % averted hospitalisations for Italy, which can be explained by differences in study period; in this study, the study period consisted of mainly the roll-out period of the vaccination campaign (January 2021 to September 2021).

The current study has several limitations. The CIMS data, from which calendar-time specific VE estimates were derived, did not contain vaccination records for individuals who did not consent to share their data (in total around 6.2 % of all administered doses). This will have resulted in misclassification of some vaccinated individuals as unvaccinated, leading to an underestimation of VE estimates [1]. Secondly, the VE estimates were not adjusted for comorbidities, as this information could not be individually linked to the hospital and vaccination data. Presumably, this has also resulted in conservative VE estimates, assuming that individuals with a higher risk of severe illness from COVID-19 were invited for vaccination earlier and were more likely to accept vaccination.

Similarly, because previous infections could not be individually linked to the hospital and vaccination data, it was not possible to adjust for previous infections in the VE analyses. The acquisition of infection-induced immunity will have led to underestimation of VE since unvaccinated individuals likely acquired it earlier and at higher rates [1]. This is the most plausible explanation for the negative VE estimates for some age groups during part of 2022 (Appendices II and III). Another limitation is that we do not consider indirect effects of vaccination in our analyses. Vaccination not only protects against severe COVID-19, but also reduces the probability of infecting other individuals [1, 2]. This leads to fewer hospitalisations, and therefore not taking this into account makes the estimate more conservative [1].
